HER data for:

HER Visits

A standard HER enquiry will supply core information from the Historic Environment Record, however considerable additional information is held within our paper records. A separate charge will not be made for a visit to the HER that relates to the original enquiry outlined on this form.

Conditions of Access

This is a summary, a copy of the full document 'The Welsh Archaeological Trusts Guidelines for Access and Charging' is available on our website (www.ggat.org.uk) or upon request.

- Information obtained from the HER shall only be used for the purposes stated on the request form.
- Information obtained from the HER shall not be passed to a third party without written consent of GGAT.*
- Users shall ensure that expert archaeological advice is sought upon the possible effects on the archaeological resource of any proposed developments with which they are involved.
- Users shall be responsible for checking that the information obtained from the HER is correct.
- The copyright on information held in the HER will be respected.
- Information obtained from the HER shall be acknowledged in any document and published report.
- Users are required to make any new or amended archaeological information available for incorporation within the HER, within a reasonable time scale. Users should discuss the format required for this information with the HER Manager.
- Access to information will be denied if it is considered that its release may endanger the archaeological resource. * *
- The Glamorgan Gwent Archaeological Trust Ltd reserves the right to refuse requests for large amounts of information.* * *

* Third party restrictions do not apply to production of client reports or publications by enquirers.

* * We will refuse requests by those who we deem unfit or likely to misuse information. This policy is in line with 1993 Environmental Information Regulations and the 1998 Freedom of Information Bill, which recommend protection of sensitive environmental information. Those who wish to challenge our decision can do so through an appeal to The Chairman, the Welsh Archaeological Trusts Committee, c/o Clwyd Powys Archaeological Trust, 7a Church St., Welshpool, Powys, SY21 7DL.

* * * Restrictions may be applied if it is considered that the release of a large amount of information might result in the uncontrolled use of significant portions of the record or the establishment of a competing and unregulated database.

The Data Protection Act (1998)

There is a right to access to the HER to inspect personal information held in the HER enquiries database and on paper. This information is collected for the purposes of administering Welsh Archaeological Trust records and providing archaeological advice. The information will be used to monitor and improve the services offered by the Welsh Archaeological Trusts. It will not be provided to any outside agencies or individuals. If you have a query or concern regarding this please contact the relevant Welsh Archaeological Trust.

Consultation Fees

- There will be no charge for enquiries from academics and students, members of the public and recognised archaeological and historical societies.
- Enquiries from bodies or individuals undertaking work on a commercial basis will incur a service charge. The basic charging rate for the provision of information from the HER is £60+VAT per hour or any portion of an hour. Charges are based on the time taken to conduct the inquiry as requested on this form. The minimum charge for an enquiry will be £60+ VAT.
- A priority service is offered subject to staff availability (two working days), for an additional fee of £30+VAT).
- Facility fees will be charged to cover the cost of materials used.

A large print version of this form is available on request.
